Having the right talent in place is only part of the equation for success. Career Compass Canada assists employers in fostering professional growth of employees and building leadership pipelines. From executive coaching to career development, our seasoned experts challenge your employees to achieve their highest potential and optimal performance for organizational competitiveness.

Coaching

From executives to high potential employees, coaching is an effective means to enhance performance and reach higher levels of leadership and organizational effectiveness. Through a coaching process that facilitates awareness, builds skills, and advances behavioral change, we integrate and align coaching with your business strategy. Engagements are tailored to fit the needs of your organization and employees, bringing immense value to all parties.

Team Building and Development

In addition to common objectives, high-performing teams share trust, commitment, and a sense of accountability to achieve results through positive collaboration. Combining proven methodologies with effective tools, our approach breaks down silos, builds trust, and engages team members. Working with your leaders, we identify the needs of each team and develop solutions that guide participants to be more effective.

Career Development

Career development initiatives prepare employees to achieve their professional goals while aligning them with the goals of the organization. Through a variety of programs, employees strengthen their knowledge, keep their skills current, and gain new skills needed to achieve career and organizational aspirations.
